Transitioning Roles from Aging Parents to Siblings of People with Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities

April 19, 2017
3:00 - 4:00 (CST)

As parents of individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities (I/DD) age, siblings may become the main caregivers. In this webinar, Dr. Meghan Burke will lay the framework and discuss research about sibling caregiving roles, and Dr. John Kramer will share research on how siblings, both with and without I/DD, age together. Katie Arnold from the Sibling Leadership Network (SLN) will provide additional information on the SLN.
